WOMAN'S SKELETON
SENT TO CREMATORY
Gross Discovery Made
In a Shipment From Texas.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 10.—Suspicious of its contents, the employees of the city crematory here yesterday afternoon opened a box which had been sent them from the local offices of the Wells Fargo Express Company, with instructions to burn it once, and discovered the skeleton of a woman, the skull still covered with a thick mat of brown hair, silk clothing, worn, high heeled shoes and bits of casket wood. The box had been shipped by Wells Fargo Express Company, and was consigned through the Wells Fargo Express Company, to Mrs. J. T. Wilson, 516 M street, Sacramento.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—Train 2,
the eastbound overland limited of the South-

o'clock tonight struck an interurban electric car at Monte, killing two men outright, injuring another so that he died later, and inflicting less serious injuries
upon eight other passengers.

GERMAN DEMANDS
ARE VERY DRASTIC

French Bankers are Supporting Government by Stopping Credit.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—Germany's counter proposal to those submitted by France
regarding the settlement of the Moroccan difficulty reached Paris last night.

In accordance with an agreement made with the German government, no communication was made to the press concerning the text of the document, but it is understood that Germany, in return for the recognition of France's free hand
in Morocco, demands economic guarantees which amount to privileges and which would be unacceptable not only to France, but to all the other powers, as they would practically suppress commercial equality in Morocco.

It appears certain that the financial difficulties of Germany are part of the result of the operations of French financiers. The German monetary world was caught at a time when it was unable to resist
the sudden hostility of the Paris bankers, who three weeks ago began to cut off credits which in any way concerned Germany. A good deal of Berlin paper is held in Paris and consigned to the Paris
bankers which are debtors to the Paris bankers.

GERMAN SOCIAL
DEMOCRATS MEET

Rebel Predicts Frightful
Rise in the Price
of Food.

JENA, Germany, Sept. 10.—The Social Democratic congress opened here tonight with 450 delegates from all parts of Germany present. These included the entire Social Democratic party in the Reichs-stag and numerous foreign representatives. Dietrich and Loebe of Jena were elected presidents.

Rebel, leader of the Socialists in the Reichstag, in a long speech said that the Reichstag intervention had made the Morocco question an important one for the representatives of German labor must of necessity discuss at the congress. In spite of the emperor's peace speech before the merchants of Hamburg, there was no question of disarmament. Instead the world would go forth:

Both were passengers on the interurban car. The car was smashed to bits.
The engine continued on, car of the train were derailed. The interurban car was in among the seriously injured.
No one was hurt on the overland.
Southern Pacific officials report that the guarding of the crossing at Monte is in charge of the interurban road and quote the watchman there as saying that he tried in vain to find the car.
Engineer Coffey of the overland reported that he had tried in vain to stop his train when he saw the collision was imminent.

ROYALIST
UPHEAVAL
IS AWAITED

Portuguese Monarchists Delayed Only by the Lack of Funds.

5000 NOW IN CAMP

Attack on Republican Government May Take Place in Week.

LISBON, Via the frontier, Sept. 10.— Luz Almeida, chief of the Carbonarilos, a secret political society, who was sent by the government to the frontier to make a thorough investigation of the royalist situation, reported today.

The delay in the attack is due to the monarchist lack of funds, says the Carbonari-los chief, but they are expecting the arrival from Brazil and England within a few days of $2,500,000.

D'Almeida is of the opinion that unless something extraordinary happens
the monarchist invasion will take place within a week. The monarchists count on part of the Republican troops going over to them as soon as hostilities are opened, but according to the best reports this seems to be a mistake, for apparently the whole 22,000 Republican troops lining the frontier are loyal to the new regime.

There is no doubt that a great part of the population of the north will rise in support of the royalists who, however, are badly equipped and have here at least that they will soon be defeated.

The whole country is awaiting results with anxiety. A serious conspiracy has been discovered in the Lisbon state prison. Yesterday a search was made of the prisoners and the result was a list of names of the so-called prisoners. The guards have been considerably strengthened.

MORE TRUST CASES
IN SUPREME COURT

Additional Light to Be Thrown on the Sherman
Trust Law.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—More light on the application of the Sherman anti-trust law to the business of the day is expected from the Supreme Court of the United States shortly after the opening of its session next month. Several anti-trust cases, advanced for consideration by the tribunal, are being relied on to give the court greater opportunity than that afforded in the "hard coal case,"
the "cotton case" and the "St. Louis bridge case." Possibly later in the session the court may consider the so-called "turpentine case." All involve knotty problems growing out of attempts of the government to punish alleged violations of the Sherman anti-trust law.

With the exception of the so-called "turpentine case," the government has been defeated in the lower court and has appealed to the Supreme Court to uphold its interpretation of the law.

GERMAN CASES.
The "hard coal case" constitutes a governmental attack on the principal anthracite coal carrying railroads and equal owning companies in Pennsylvania.
It is claimed that since 1895
these companies have been parties to a combination and conspiracy to end competition among themselves in the transportation and sale of anthracite coal and to prevent the sale of the independent output in competition with their own. Besides this alleged general conspiracy, a number of little conspiracies not only forming a part of the general conspiracy but occupying an independent existence have been brought to the government.

CANADIAN FIGHT
GETTING HOTTER

Speeches in One District
Made in Gaelic, French and English.

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—The Canadian election campaign has now been in full swing for a month. An army of orators has been busy throughout the country daily and large quantities of political literature have been distributed. Today the leaders of each party claim that victory is assured.

"Victory is in the air," declared Premier Laurier at a meeting in London, Ont., Friday last.

Premier Laurier has been through Ontario, Quebec and the maritime provinces speaking daily to unparalleled audiences. This week he goes to the district around Quebec City to finish the campaign.

All the leading speakers of both parties have attracted unusually large audiences. Government campaigners are seeking to keep the fiscal aspect of reciprocity to the front and their campaign has been directed principally toward educating the Canadian farmer and fisherman to the great benefit which it is claimed they will get from free access to the American market. The Liberals have accused the Conservatives of "conservative" that reciprocity will lead Canada away from England to the United States.

The Conservative campaigners have largely confined themselves to the sentimental side. The British flag, the maintenance of British connection unweakened, and protests against close relations with the United States
from the basis of Conservative speeches today. President Taft, Champ Clark, J. J. Hill and others are quoted daily from Conservative platforms to show that annexation of Canada is the ulterior motive of the American people in agreeing to reciprocity.

KANSAS BOTTOM
LANDS FLOODED

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 10.—As the result of heavy rains which have been falling almost unceasingly for the last week, the bottom lands of Kansas are being submerged. Small streams throughout Eastern Kansas and Western Missouri are tonight out of their banks and thousands of acres of bottom lands
are submerged.

At Troy, Kansas, 2.5 inches of rain has fallen since last night. At Reed Springs in Stone County, Mo., the streets are flooded and a railway bridge over a small creek was swept away. The engine and tender of a work train went the flood but no one was injured. The engineer and fireman jumping into the

KRUTTSCHNITT MUST
YIELD OR THE PUBLIC
SUFFER, SAYS KLINE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—Unless Julius Kruttschnitt, vice-president and director of maintenance of the Harriman lines, recedes from his absolute refusal to recognize the shop workers or his committees on those lines, he will be confronted with a strike. No reason for believing that he will recede has been found by labor leaders here.

General advisory committees of the five international shop craft unions that are comprised in the federation concluded here today a three days' conference with the international officers of those unions. The general officers were entrusted with full charge of the situation henceforth, and International President J.
W. Kline of the Blacksmiths' and Helpers' Union, their appointed spokesman, said that the general officers had made up their mind what they would do.

"Kruttschnitt will have to make concessions," said Kline tonight, "or the public, for which he has expressed so great regard, probably will suffer because he does not."

"Will the general officers ask for another conference with Mr. Kruttsschnitt?" was asked.

"That is not in our present plans,"
he replied. "We are going to Los Angeles tonight and we will find some way of approaching the subject again,
but none has occurred to us so far."

"Recognition of a federation of unions involves no principle that is not included in recognition to individual unions, already conceded by the Harriman lines, and no principles not already utilized in the formation of the Harriman system itself. It is our right and we shall insist upon it."

"Asked concerning the prospect that the federal statutes against combinations in restraint of trade may be invoked against officers of the international unions, he said:

"When we took office, we took all responsibilities of the office. If these include going to jail, we will go to jail."

Fair warning, Kline said, will be given to the Harriman officials in case a strike is called. He will go from Los Angeles, Kline will go to Salt Lake, and east to Chicago, stopping perhaps at Omaha. Other international officers will cover the southern routes of the Southern Pacific centrals, meeting the men at railway centers.

NO DECISION IN ILLINOIS
CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Members of the executive board of the International Association of Machinists who met today to consider the advisability of a strike of the Federated Shop Employees of the Illinois Central railroad, deferred decision until the next meeting of the board, which will begin a session at Davenport, Iowa, tomorrow.

James O'Connell, international president of the machinists, arrived here today from Washington and in a conference with members of the machinists' board and representatives of the committee of international officers of the Illinois Central federated unions were held. Later President O'Connell and several other members of the machinists' board conferred.

SOUTH AFRICAN
WOMEN ORGANIZE

Will Affiliate With the In-

Congress.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Sept.
10.—Women in the union of South Africa have been the first to organize an auxiliary to the International Congress of Farm Women which is to hold its first congress in this city, beginning October 17th, at the time of the Dry Farming Congress. Announcement was received today from Protector that a woman's section of the union of South Africa Dry Farming Congress, had been called to meet October 5th and 6th and was seeking affiliation with the International Congress of Farm Women.

Among the officers of the African Women's Congress are Vice-presidents
Gladstone, wife of the governor general, Lord Herbert Gladstone, patroness; Lady Maitland, wife of the commissioner of the South African forces;
and Mrs. J. J. Botha, wife of the minister and minister of agriculture
for the union, and Mrs. John Rissick, wife of the administrator of Transvaal province, vice-presidents.

TROUBLE IN JUAREZ
Opponents of Madero De-

the Balloting.

JUAREZ, Sept. 10.—The big Reyes demonstration planned for this city by the recently organized political club failed to materialize this morning, which was planned as a throng of fully 1000 Maderistas, parading the streets with banners bearing likenesses
of the former revolutionary chief, splitting the air with their wild anthems. There were cries of "down with Reyes," and "death to Reyes."

The Reyes club is asserted to have a membership here of 700, but it made no demonstration. The Maderistas marched to Constitution Plaza
where five addresses were delivered highly eulogistic of the presidential nominations.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 10.—Nine persons were killed and more than twice that number wounded when Reyes and Maderistas clashed yesterday in Tuxtla-Chico, a village in the state of Chiapas, near the southern boundary of Mexico, according to reports received at the President's office today.

Partisans of General Reyes began a parade in his honor, expecting to close the manifestation with an open-air mass meeting. Hurriedly the Ma-deristas of the community mustered their forces and began to interfere with the Reyes parade. In a few minutes partisans of both Madero and the general were fighting with stones, knives and clubs. The battle ended only with the routing of the Reyes troops, who left their dead and wounded out-numbered those of the Maderistas.

The Reyes have petitioned the state authorities to afford them more ample guarantees of safety.

NO DANGER AT TORREON.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Danger
of trouble and disorder at Torreon, Mexico, on the Mexican National railroad, next Saturday, need no longer be feared, according to a report of the State Department from American Consular Agent Carrothers at Torre-
on, who announced that 1000 Mexican troops had arrived at Torreon to preserve order. American freemen, who went from Durango to Torreon, under orders from the State Department to investigate the situation, has notified the State Department that the troops will maintain order.

DEMAND POSTPONEMENT.
MEXICO CITY, Sept. 10.—Delegates to the Reyes convention in all probability will join this week in the petition to Congress for a postponement of the elections. This was the opinion freely expressed in the lobbies of the hall where the initial session of the convention was held today. What Congress may grant the request is not improbable, since a majority of that body are men who were named during the Diaz regime, and are inclined to agree with those who insist the nation's affairs are yet too turbulent to permit of an impartial vote. If a new date is fixed, however, it will be against the vigorous protest of the Maderistas, who realize the danger of giving their political enemies more time.

Some 500 delegates are here and a few more are en route. The number is not as large as that which made up the Madero convention, but practically all the men appear to be from the more prosperous classes.

Avoid, perhaps by the number of mounted police on the streets and especially on the street in front of convention hall, the rowdy element permitted itself but one short outburst today. Shortly before noon a crowd of manifestants appeared in San Francisco street. Bearing Maderista bun-nets they began a parade, along that thoroughfare but mounted police numbering more than twice the manifestants rode slowly behind them. The flaps on their cartridge pouches were loosened and the crowd unobtrusively dispersed at the head of the street.

PEKING, Sept. 10.—The Chinese government is concentrating troops

suppressing the alarming disturbances in the province of Szechuan if the provincial forces are insufficient in number or prove disloyal. Sixty Canadian Methodist missionaries are among the Cheng Tu refugees. There are Americans, and nothing has been heard from them for the last four days. It is believed that they are being escorted by Chinese troops in

PASTOR SAYS SUNDAY SHOWS BAD FOR SOCIETY

Rev. Conley Calls Them Unfair to Actor and Demoralizing.

Declares Practice Exerts Corrupting Influence on the Stage.

Sunday performances at theaters and Sunday theater-going were condemned yesterday by Rev. J. W. Conley, in a sermon at the First Baptist church. After declaring the practice deprives the actor of his right to a day of rest, he went on to declare the disregard for the Sabbath and the tendency toward more pleasure seeking which is encouraged by the Sunday theater is an opening wedge for national degeneracy.

He said, in part:

"Comparatively few years ago the Sunday theater was practically unknown. But today in all of our large cities and many smaller ones Sunday theaters are in full operation. For a time some of the more reputable theaters held out against this innovation, but practically all have yielded. A few actors like Joseph Jefferson and Lawrence Barrett refused to act on Sunday. In fact, we have reached a point where to take a public stand against the Sunday theater is regarded by many as an evidence of narrowness and a belated view of modern progress. And yet there are many reasons why this question should receive the careful, earnest consideration of all thoughtful, earnest people.

"We will look first at some of the arguments presented in favor of the Sunday theater.

"It is urged that there is a manifest demand for it. It is generously patronized. But this argument is inconclusive. Mexican bull-fights, open

GOD ETERNAL MYSTERY, SALVATION IN THE THREE "GRACES"

Rev. Thos. Clayton Discusses Mysteries of Life and Energy.

Says Faith, Hope and Love are Only Means of Securing Peace.

God is an unfathomable mystery, which will never be fathomed by the finite mind of man, and of which not even an adequate thought can be formed, stated Rev. Thomas Clayton in his sermon yesterday morning at the Unitarian church. He preached on the subject: "The threefold mystery." He spoke as follows:

It is no new thing to say, "We live in a universe full of mystery." (One of the latest of mankind (Sir Isaac Newton) is credited with saying, "We are like children wandering on the seashore, picking up here and there a small pebble of knowledge, while the great ocean of knowledge before us is unexplored and unknown.") When we say the universe is full of mystery, we mean that its secrets are beyond our comprehension. Yet the mind that made it must fully understand it, and see through all its intricate mechanism.

By the threefold mystery we mean the three great mysteries that are closely connected. So closely related they are, it is difficult to tell where one ends and the others begin.

The first is the mystery of energy and motion.

As we look out on the great visible universe, we are quickly impressed with the constant manifestation of energy in force in the form of motion. Given the universal "ether" of John Fiske, we find it to be in universal and constant motion. The all-pervading energy is being constantly transferred and transformed, and it is this that is the basis of all phenomena for which we should never know there is such a thing as substance or matter. It is revealed in the light, in the revolution and path of every star, in heat, sound, form and color in cloud and wind, and in all earthly phenomena.

Whence or what is this energy and motion? We know it lies hidden in a lump of coal, and manifested in the swift motion of a locomotive; but of its actual nature or origin, we know almost nothing. We can tell "whence it cometh" nor whither it goeth." It remains an unfathomable mystery.

The second is the deeper mystery of life. Energy and life are so closely connected, men are led to inquire, "Are they not one and the same thing? There is no life without energy, and that energy revealed in motion. For we cannot think of an absolutely motionless organism as living. Yet energy exists apart from life. The energy above is full of potential energy, but we do not think of it as living; although as plant or tree, it is impossible to draw a line between living and the non-living. What is the difference between stones and plants? Or between the soil and the plant that grows out of it—the mysterious organism that absorbs the chemical elements of the soil and transforms them into living tissue? How is this accomplished? Is a deep mystery. What is the difference between the life of the plant and the animal that eats the plant and transforms it into animal matter?

Scientists are puzzled to know where the one ends and the other begins.

Evolution seems to decide there was a time when they were both one, and by some unknown agent became separated to pursue their different paths in the history of life.

What is life? Some dare to say "electric force," but that is not all. Electric force, plus what? We must add, self-consciousness, volition, etc. To what extent these life-functions are present in plant life it seems difficult to decide. But there is already a plant psychology. This self-consciousness or intelligence is strongest in human life. We are able to say, "I am I, and thou art thou." Are the animals saying this to themselves? Who knows? It is all a fascinating mystery, we may never solve.

The deepest part of the life mystery is man. Evidently he is the highest product of world evolution, possessing self-consciousness, free will, reason, moral consciousness, and all the higher emotions. What the relationship of these psychological powers to the physical organism may be, is still the subject of earnest controversy. A slight pressure on the brain cortex seems to suspend, if not to destroy all the functions of what we have pleased to call the soul. Here we are involved in a deep mystery, which may never be solved.

Again, our attention is challenged by the phenomena of human society in its totality. The history of mankind is naturally of supreme interest to us, but it is none the less full of mysterious things. The vast knowledge of the world and of man's nature has not enabled us to interpret. We are no wiser than the ancients, when we face the problem of the meaning of human life and toward what goal it is tending. We see an upward tendency, but whither cannot even guess. All the prophets and theologians have failed to satisfy us as to what is to come hereafter; human life still remains an unsolved mystery.

The third form the key to all other mysteries. What is the source of all we see or know? Could we adequately know this, it would in a measure solve all other problems for us. Who or what is the source or author of the universe? This is the supreme, the pivotal mystery.

We have found no satisfactory answer, and none seems possible. There has been, and can be no final and complete revelation of God; for such is the name by which we have chosen to speak of this chief of all mysteries. All our increased knowledge of the universe has but deepened the mystery that surrounds its source.

We can still say with Job's friend, "Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou find out the Almighty? mightiest perfection? it is higher than heaven, what canst thou do? Deeper than Sheol, what canst thou know? The measure thereof is longer than the earth and broader than the sea."

The reason why we can never know the supreme source of all is, because the universe itself, which is His (or His) habitation, is beyond our power to fathom or penetrate. It is too vast and infinite for our feeble mental grasp. Its spaces are immeasurable, its stars innumerable, its forms, its life, so numerous, so intricate, the mind reels exhausted by the mere contemplation of it; how then can we hope ever to grasp the significance of even a worthy thought of God?

Is this all we can do, or know? The

After 7 Years Suffering
I Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Waurika, Okla.—"I had female troubles for seven years, was all run down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different things but did me no good. I got so bad that I could not sleep day or night. While in this condition I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and began its use and wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. In a short time I gained my former weight and am now strong and well."
—Mrs. SALLIE STEVENSON, R. F. D., No. 3, Box 31, Waurika, Okla.

Another Grateful Woman.
Huntington, Mass.—"I was in a nervous, run down condition and for three years could find no help. I owe my present good health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier which I believe saved my life."
"My doctor knows what helped me and does not say one word against it."
—Mrs. MAIR JANETTE BATES, Box 134, Huntington, Mass.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors usually do you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, and nervous prostration.

As we look out on the great visible universe, we are quickly impressed with the constant manifestation of energy in force in the form of motion. Given the universal "ether" of John Fiske, we find it to be in universal and constant motion. The all-pervading energy is being constantly transferred and transformed, and it is this that is the basis of all phenomena for which we should never know there is such a thing as substance or matter. It is revealed in the light, in the revolution and path of every star, in heat, sound, form and color in cloud and wind, and in all earthly phenomena.

Whence or what is this energy and motion? We know it lies hidden in a lump of coal, and manifested in the swift motion of a locomotive; but of its actual nature or origin, we know almost nothing. We can tell "whence it cometh" nor whither it goeth." It remains an unfathomable mystery.

The second is the deeper mystery of life. Energy and life are so closely connected, men are led to inquire, "Are they not one and the same thing? There is no life without energy, and that energy revealed in motion. For we cannot think of an absolutely motionless organism as living. Yet energy exists apart from life. The energy above is full of potential energy, but we do not think of it as living; although as plant or tree, it is impossible to draw a line between living and the non-living. What is the difference between stones and plants? Or between the soil and the plant that grows out of it—the mysterious organism that absorbs the chemical elements of the soil and transforms them into living tissue? How is this accomplished? Is a deep mystery. What is the difference between the life of the plant and the animal that eats the plant and transforms it into animal matter?

Scientists are puzzled to know where the one ends and the other begins.

Evolution seems to decide there was a time when they were both one, and by some unknown agent became separated to pursue their different paths in the history of life.

What is life? Some dare to say "electric force," but that is not all. Electric force, plus what? We must add, self-consciousness, volition, etc. To what extent these life-functions are present in plant life it seems difficult to decide. But there is already a plant psychology. This self-consciousness or intelligence is strongest in human life. We are able to say, "I am I, and thou art thou." Are the animals saying this to themselves? Who knows? It is all a fascinating mystery, we may never solve.

The deepest part of the life mystery is man. Evidently he is the highest product of world evolution, possessing self-consciousness, free will, reason, moral consciousness, and all the higher emotions. What the relationship of these psychological powers to the physical organism may be, is still the subject of earnest controversy. A slight pressure on the brain cortex seems to suspend, if not to destroy all the functions of what we have pleased to call the soul. Here we are involved in a deep mystery, which may never be solved.

Again, our attention is challenged by the phenomena of human society in its totality. The history of mankind is naturally of supreme interest to us, but it is none the less full of mysterious things. The vast knowledge of the world and of man's nature has not enabled us to interpret. We are no wiser than the ancients, when we face the problem of the meaning of human life and toward what goal it is tending. We see an upward tendency, but whither cannot even guess. All the prophets and theologians have failed to satisfy us as to what is to come hereafter; human life still remains an unsolved mystery.

The third form the key to all other mysteries. What is the source of all we see or know? Could we adequately know this, it would in a measure solve all other problems for us. Who or what is the source or author of the universe? This is the supreme, the pivotal mystery.

We have found no satisfactory answer, and none seems possible. There has been, and can be no final and complete revelation of God; for such is the name by which we have chosen to speak of this chief of all mysteries. All our increased knowledge of the universe has but deepened the mystery that surrounds its source.

We can still say with Job's friend, "Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou find out the Almighty? mightiest perfection? it is higher than heaven, what canst thou do? Deeper than Sheol, what canst thou know? The measure thereof is longer than the earth and broader than the sea."

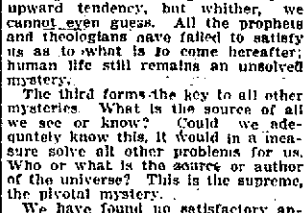

The reason why we can never know the supreme source of all is, because the universe itself, which is His (or His) habitation, is beyond our power to fathom or penetrate. It is too vast and infinite for our feeble mental grasp. Its spaces are immeasurable, its stars innumerable, its forms, its life, so numerous, so intricate, the mind reels exhausted by the mere contemplation of it; how then can we hope ever to grasp the significance of even a worthy thought of God?

Is this all we can do, or know? The

I Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Waurika, Okla.—"I had female troubles for seven years, was all run down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different things but did me no good. I got so bad that I could not sleep day or night. While in this condition I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and began its use and wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. In a short time I gained my former weight and am now strong and well."
—Mrs. SALLIE STEVENSON, R. F. D., No. 3, Box 31, Waurika, Okla.

Another Grateful Woman.
Huntington, Mass.—"I was in a nervous, run down condition and for three years could find no help. I owe my present good health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier which I believe saved my life."
"My doctor knows what helped me and does not say one word against it."
—Mrs. MAIR JANETTE BATES, Box 134, Huntington, Mass.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors usually do you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, and nervous prostration.

FAUST WILL BE PERFORMANCE AGAIN AT THE BARTON

Fresno playgoers are delighted to hear that the popular Newman-Foltz company will remain another week at the Barton, and indications point to big houses at every performance. The company appeared in "Faust" last night, Goethe's masterpiece, and their performance of the well known classic, compares favorably with many of the much higher priced attractions. "Faust" is the bill again tonight and tomorrow. An entirely different play will be produced on Wednesday and Thursday. "Hosanna," the pretty southern story by Hal Reed. This romantic play affords everyone in the cast an opportunity for excellent work. All the chivalry and gallantry of old Virginia, its beautiful women and dramatic scenes are cleverly portrayed by the Newman-Foltz company. For Friday and Saturday is the brilliant historical play, "A Soldier of the Empire," dealing with the time of Napoleon, and the scenes and incidents of his reign. This play permits of elaborate stage settings and scenic effects, and the beautiful costumes worn are in keeping with the period. "Amy," in which the company made such a big hit last week, is to be repeated at the Saturday matinee by special request as so many missed seeing this clever comedy drama. It is a play that will attract a pleasing entertainment for the little folks and their elders enjoy it also. The last night of the Newman-Foltz engagement, Sunday, will be devoted to the charming American play, "A Parisian Princess." Refined and vivacious will be a feature between acts, and the same popular prices as last week, 10, 20 and 30 cents. Seats on sale for all performances.

DIES IN AUTOMOBILE ON WAY TO HOSPITAL
Coffee Suffers Stroke of Paralysis; Inquest This Morning.

While being rushed to the county hospital in an automobile early Sunday morning, William Coffee, a laborer on the Sycamore ranch, located fifteen miles from Fresno, passed away. Death was caused from a complication of heart trouble and a sudden stroke of paralysis. Coroner Bean will probably hold an inquest this morning, as a physician had only been in attendance once.

Coffee suffered the first stroke Saturday afternoon while working in the field at the ranch. He was carried to the residence of John Dooley, the owner of the ranch, and Dr. Manson of this city was called. After making a thorough examination of the laborer, Dr. Manson ordered that he be sent to the county hospital. Grant Say was notified, and he went to the ranch in his automobile and started to the hospital with Coffee, who was accompanied by one of the laborers. When about five miles from the ranch, Coffee collapsed and died, and in place of going to the county hospital, Say drove his machine to the Stephens & Bean undertaking parlors.

Coffee was 57 years of age and had been employed at the Sycamore ranch for the past eleven months. He was a single man and as far as is known he has no relatives in the part of the country. Funeral arrangements will be made after the inquest is held.

TRAIN SERVICE FOR WEST SIDE IS BETTER

Motor Schedule Changed Between Los Banos and Tracy.

LOS BANOS, Sept. 10.—Better train service for this place is the result of a new schedule for the motor car service between Los Banos and Tracy, which has gone into effect. The car leaves here now at 5:45 a. m. for Tracy and arrives here on the return trip at 6:40 p. m. This insures better train connections. The motor formerly arrived here at 10:15 a. m. and returned to Tracy at 4 p. m. A new motor, No. 27, replaces the old No. 3. The service is being tried out for a month.

Miguel Espinosa, a Mexican, aged 48, suffered a deep cut in his forehead yesterday, when the door of a hay press on which he was working struck him in the face. His injury is not serious.

The Fraternal Brotherhood gave a very enjoyable ball here last night.

Baby's Voice

Every woman's heart responds to the charm and sweetness of a baby's voice, because nature intended her for motherhood. But even the loving nature of a mother shrinks from the ordeal because such a time is regarded as a period of suffering and danger. Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much discomfort and suffering, and their systems, being thoroughly prepared by this great remedy, are in a healthy condition to meet the time with the least possible suffering and danger. Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; it is in no sense a remedy for various ills, but its many years of success, and the thousands of endorsements received from women who have used it are a guarantee of the benefit to be derived from its use. This remedy does not accomplish wonders but simply assists nature to perfect its work. Mother's Friend allays nausea, prevents caking of the breasts, and in every way contributes to strong, healthy motherhood. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. COLLEGE MORALS

R. T. Crane, the Chicago college-baiter, has renewed his attack on college education from a new angle. He says the institutions of higher learning are immoral places, and he presents some figures to prove it. He says that 90 per cent of Harvard freshmen and 95 per cent of Harvard seniors drink, and that 15 per cent of them go irretrievably to the lair. He estimates the number of students who combine in a mild degree wine and bad women as 65 per cent, those who drink heavily 35 per cent, and those who have two or three "bats" a year also as 45 per cent. In other colleges, he says, the conditions are as bad or worse.

Unquestionably Mr. Crane's figures are exaggerated. There are two reasons for making this assertion. One is that they differ from the general impression of well-informed observers. The other is that Mr. Crane's record for the ascertainment and presentation of facts is not such as to inspire confidence in his statements. So large a subtraction must be made from these figures, by reason of the known inaccuracy and bias of the man who presents them. And then, after the figures have been reduced to the truth, they must be compared, not with what young men ought to be, but with what an equal number of young men in similar financial and social situation would be if they did not go to college.

The question is not whether the temperate and virtuous young man who goes to college will find some associates there whose standards are lax. He will find such persons everywhere, and he can not go through these critical years of life without meeting the temptation of such examples. The question is not whether such temptations exist in college. They do. It is whether the young man going to college will meet more of them there, or is more likely to yield to them there, than the same young man could do if he sought his preparation for the larger activities of life elsewhere than in college. If a college education is worth while, if it gives a young man a better start than the same four years could give him in any other way, then it is nothing against it that those four years include, in college, some of the same risks which they would have anywhere else.

And, quite emphatically, the colleges can stand examination by this standard. Most college men are not total abstainers. Neither are most young men of similar environment who do not go to college. But most college men are sober, and it is as easy for a boy who believes in total abstinence to practice it in college as anywhere. Some college men fall from the path of virtue, but so, alas! do some other men who never went to college. On the other hand, decency is as common, as respected and as easy in college as anywhere. The proportion of wrong doing is nothing like what Mr. Crane's imaginary figures or other people's exaggerated rumors assert. For instance, Stanford University graduated a class this year every man of which so far as very vigilant university authorities could determine, was temperate and respectable. This result had been accomplished, to be sure, by ruthless elimination of the other sort, but the point is that even after this elimination, most of the class was still left. If Mr. Crane's estimates were correct, no college could enforce the standards of decency now enforcing and still have enough students left to keep going. Most universities are not so ineffectual as Stanford, but Stanford results show that if they were the large majority of the students would remain exactly as they are.

It is of course not enough that university life should be merely as decent as other life. Its intellectual standards, its civic standards, its ideals, are far higher, and its standards of personal decency should be higher, also. The situation which Mr. Crane exaggerates does exist; and in one of the serious problems which university authorities must meet. But if they did not meet it, and if the temptations of four years in college were merely the same which the same young man would meet in the same four years if he did not go to college, college education would still be worth while to any young man to whom any other large opportunity would be worth while.

NEW RIGHTS FOR OLD

The attitude of labor toward the land, which courts and Tories fail to understand, was never expressed more clearly nor in fewer words than was done by Samuel Gompers in a speech in San Francisco Saturday, when he said:

"We receive rights under the constitution which we do not need and are denied the rights we must and will have."
 That is the whole story. The purpose of the constitution was to protect individual rights. The typical modern labor man does not want individual rights, and he resents the effort to thrust them on him. He wishes to alienate those rights, and chafes under the eighteenth century constitution which makes them unalienable. He does not desire for himself and will not grant to his fellows those liberties which his predecessors held dearer than life. On the other hand, there are certain collective or class rights, which the constitution denies him, but which he thinks he ought to have. No, not exactly that. Mr. Gompers does not say that he thinks he ought to have them. He says "we must and will have them." In other words, acknowledging that the constitution denies certain rights, Mr. Gompers, the head of organized labor in the United States, says that those who represent are nevertheless going to have them. And if you should protest "this is revolution," he would merely wonder at your attitude in supposing that is anything against it.

Does this shock you, Mr. Business Man, and prove to you that the union ought to be exterminated? Then how about your own class? Is not modern business quite as resentful of its ancient individual rights, guaranteed by the constitution, as modern labor is? What right is modern business fighting hardest for? Evidently, the right to surrender individual opportunity, to abrogate competition, to forego equal opportunity for one's self and to deny it to others. To sell listed goods below the listed price is a high crime of merchandising, for which the offender is hounded and put on the scab list. Whenever the Supreme Court hands down a decision protecting every business man in his right to enter any business and make his own success or failure in it, the whole business world cries "barracking business," and the price of stocks goes down. But when some keen lawyer devises a scheme whereby, in spite of the decision, business men may still surrender their individual rights and deprive others of them, then there is rejoicing, and the market soars. And while business has not the courage to say "we will have" rights which the constitution denies, it does insist on having those rights and hires legal foresters to find holes through which to sneak them.

It is simply that times have changed. Supreme Courts and Tories have not found it cut yet, and so they sit low like blinking blind men in the light of a new day. Gompers has the advantage of being more intelligent and more frank, that is all.

THE DAILY GRIND.

My son, when you speak of the work you do, there's something to keep in mind. Don't call it "the daily grind." No matter how little it pleases you, Don't talk of the tasks that you dislike, nor grumble at sorry fate. There never was work set to our hands that we had a right to hate. It isn't the work; it isn't the hire; nor tugging from sun to sun. That counts in the eyes of them who see it's "how is the labor done?" As soon as you say it's a daily grind, that moment you hate your work. That moment the imp of indolence shows you how you will miss it. That moment you lose all your good intent; that moment you ought to quit. For the work that you do is a friend to you while you are a friend to it. And once you have called it a slavish task and named it "the daily grind," your work is a snare that will catch your feet and cause you to fall belated.

My son, when you work you must finish your task; you must finish that task alone. And work that is done with a friendly hand will change to a stepping stone. Will carry you over the haring stream or out of the clinging slough. And lift you to where you may put your feet on the work that you want to do. It will help you along to the heights you seek, will bring you into your goal. But when you declare it's "the daily grind," and will grind you both—

BIRDS LIKE LOCUST PEST.

Montclair Man Hens Bell in Trees to Scare Them; They Ring It. "The birds are back!" That was the cry on the Crescent today. Thousands of starlings, sparrows, grackles and robins that had been scared away by the slaughter of birds in the trees, were back in the trees last week have returned to their former haunts, and the fashionable residents of the Crescent are in despair. The bird came back last night, and on one tree, where one of the Crescent residents had hung a bell with which he thought to scare away the unwelcome guests, they gathered in numbers sufficiently strong to keep the bell tolling all night by their weight.

"Smoke 'em out," "Try a spray of ammonia," "hang bells in the trees," "light up with Chinese lanterns," "Send boys up in the trees with firecrackers," "Cut down the trees," "Turn the fire hose on them"—these are some of the suggestions the Crescent dwellers are receiving. It is against the grackle, or blackbird, that the enmity of the residents chiefly is directed. In the summer of 1909, blackbirds had possession of three or four trees. The neighborhood was interested in their presence and the children sometimes rapped the trunk of a roosting tree to show a chance to flutter up and settle again. Last year more trees were pre-empted by the grackles, and they were joined by flocks of starlings. The bird colony then numbered about 2000.

When the grackles went south last November, it was hoped their leave on the Crescent and adjacent streets had expired. This fully, however, they returned with all their sisters and their cousins and their aunts, as well as their posterity, and were numbered by thousands instead of hundreds. Montclair (N. Y.) dispatch to the New York Times.

HOW SOUTH SEA SWELLS FORM.

We all remember with what frequency in the old narratives of experiences in the South Seas reference is made to the heavy swells of the ocean which impressed navigators with the idea of their greatness from land. The great size of the sea waves in high southern latitudes has been explained, says the Scientific American, by the fact that south of the Cape of Good Hope and Cape Horn there is neither windward nor leeward shore, and the prevailing wind in all longitudes is westerly. Thus, when a west wind springs up it finds a long westerly swell, the effect of a previous wind, still running. The now-born wind increases the steepness of the waves and so causes majestic storm waves which sometimes attain a length of 1,200 feet from crest to crest. The average height attained by sea waves in the South is about half the velocity of the wind in miles per hour.—Chicago Tribune.

BRIEF EDITORIAL FANCIES SELECTED

Probe It to The Bottom.

It is to be hoped that the investigation into the state printing office will not be allowed to die a natural death. There is not an intelligent citizen in California who does not know that this concern has been a nest of misbehavior almost from its beginning, and that it is mainly the parents of school children who have been asked to pay the bill. Why the state printing office should have so far escaped a really needed overhauling is one of those mysterious questions only by the politically elect but now that the door has been opened it should be kept open until we can see what has been hidden for so long. This is not a matter of a few excessive prices or of a few exorbitant orders to be explained and then forgotten. It is a good opportunity to ascertain exactly what basis there is for a universal suspicion that has now been a long-continued public scandal.—Sanger Herald.

How Many Will Vote?

Leaders of the progressive in California, including Governor Johnson, will actively campaign for the adoption of the constitutional amendments, giving particular attention to those providing for the initiative, referendum and recall. The position of the voters with reference to these amendments will, in a measure, show just how strongly they desire to participate in direct legislation, as it were. The history of past elections has not furnished proof that the electorate as a whole took much interest in questions submitted to them. The adoption or rejection of constitutional amendments, in a measure, embraces the referendum, the initiative principle, or on many occasions not more than 60 per cent of the voters have taken the trouble to express an opinion. This lethargy has imperiled many a good amendment, and has permitted the adoption of some bad ones.

But a truly democratic people must endorse the principle of direct legislation, and the amendments looking to the accomplishment thereof should be adopted as they undoubtedly will. Only it will be interesting to see just what proportion of the people take the trouble in October to vote on all of the amendments or any of them.—Hawthorne California.

Recall Would Be Justified.

There is ample cause to start a recall movement against the Spokane judge who has been sued by a tobacco trust for $475, the cost of 200 cigars furnished the jurist when he was running a office in the city. A man who got those cigars smokes would be quite to sign the petition.—Sacramento Union.

Trouble With Colorado River.

An extraordinary dispatch from San Bernardino tells an astonishing story of the river, usually so placid and obedient. Colorado has now taken refuge in a big hole and is disappearing underground. This rebellious stream is always going the unexpected and shows a perverse ingenuity of unpleasantness. Its latest performance, if truly described, almost trenches on the realm of the fantastic and serves to recall the dream of Kipling Khan.

In Xanadu did Kubla Khan A stately pleasure dome decree, Where Alph the sacred river, ran Through caverns measureless to man Down to a level sea. But this desperate and unruly Colorado appears to be "sacred" only in the sense that it is accursed. It is the night mare of rivers and will not behave like a respectable and reliable stream. To insure the Colorado may not be as reliable as it is usually painted, and the San Bernardino dispatch amounts to little at something of the sort when it adds that an expedition is forming to investigate "the alleged phenomena." Strange tales come out of the desert, but there are no monsters of the deeps or of the shadows with which the great American imagination is not competent to cope. It is the soothing creep that beats poppy and mandragora. If, in fact, the Colorado has gone into hiding the investigation may be trusted to drag the fugitive from his hole.

COLORED VIEWS OF VARDAMAN

John White, one of the Mississippi State House porters, was overheard discussing with two other darkies who work there, the results of the recent election. Governor Vardaman is giving up for "Washington" an old one or dem mend mints an' mortify t'other gnat all us niggers, but I don't keer if he does. It is a fact, too, that all negroes who have ever been brought in contact with Governor Vardaman, as servants and otherwise, scorn and admire him with great loyalty and extravagance.—Mobile Register.

GO RIGHT AT IT.

Friends and Neighbors in Fresno Will Show You How.

Get at the root of the trouble. Rubbing an aching back may relieve it. But it won't cure it. You must reach the root of it—the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills go right at it; reach the cause; relieve the pain. They cure, too, so Fresno people say. Frank Coleman, 2022 Ventura street, Fresno, Cal., says: "My own experience with Doan's Kidney Pills leads me to speak highly of them. They cured me of a severe attack of kidney complaint after other preparations had failed to help me in the least. My work obliges me to do much stooping and lifting and the result was kidney trouble. I had dull pains in the small of my back and my head ached a great deal. I had almost despaired of ever being cured, when I fortunately learned of Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured a supply at the Butler & Colman Drug Co. and before long their use had entirely rid my system of kidney complaint. Everyone suffering from kidney trouble should give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

ITALIAN SCORNS HIS FATHER'S MILLIONS

Lives, at Age of 53, in St. Louis Hut with Dog for Companion.

The son of a millionaire, from whom he has several times refused financial aid, Louis Repetto, 33 years old, lived 25 years in two rooms in the basement of a building at 111 South Seventh street. He is now penniless and now serves as a janitor in the city. That, at least, is what Repetto, who was reputed to be worth $50,000 or more, told a reporter who visited him at the hospital yesterday.

"My father has money—lots of it," he said. "He's worth between $50,000 and $100,000, but if the city of St. Louis were for sale at $100 I couldn't buy a woodshed in it."

"I was born in a cottage near where I now live 53 years ago, my father, at that time being in the fruit business. About 35 years ago we went back to Italy, where he now lives on the interest of his money. He has offered me large sums of money to go into business with him and urged me to come over to Italy and live there with him on one of the largest estates in the country. But I wouldn't let him or any other fellow give me a penny. My father is almost 80 years old now and he is offering me a million or two as an inheritance."

"When I was not more than 8 years old, my father gave me a beating for going swimming in the river when he had ordered me to stay home. I ran away and since that day I have made my own way in the world entirely. For many years I sold newspapers and made more money than I have ever earned since. But I always spent it as fast as it came in and the statement I am a miser and had worth $50,000 is ridiculous and absurd."

"The papers also published that I kept ten dogs and five cats in my rooms on South Seventh street to guard the treasure. All that is foolishness. If I had money I would be out among the 'bon ton' in the West End. But I have no money and I am satisfied to live my own life and let other live theirs. You could buy all I own for $10, except my dog Jack and the picture of my dead wife and son and daughter. My wife died four years after our marriage, 23 years ago, and my two children died soon afterwards."

"You won't find a cat in my rooms and in addition to Jack there are only three pups Jack is by far, I believe, the oldest dog in St. Louis. I raised him from a puppy and he's been my pal for 26 years. He's getting pretty old now and can't do the tricks that he used to astonish me with."

"Jack's got more sense than a good many men, and can drink as much beer as any man in St. Louis, but he don't get drunk—that's where he's wiser."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

PASSING OF THE LEECH.

Another of our cherished ideas will soon be no more. The leech has been deposed from its sovereignty, and its "passing" forms the subject of an article in the Medical Record for Philadelphia.

What we may term the leech farmer for want of a better name we are told is a Philadelphia man who formerly exercised his calling in an artificial marsh. He had several infirm horses, and these poor creatures were induced by trickery to take a bath in the marsh, with the result that the growing leeches got a feed at the expense of the life blood of the miserable horses, of which they had no opportunity.

In Croatia, Dalmatia and Turkey they fish for leeches, which are taken in baskets like oysters. When these arrived in France they were placed in dark casks without nourishment, the better to fit them for their work on the invalid.

M. Boyer tells an amusing story of a lot of leeches purchased for the navy. They were duly registered as each was sent out. Five, it seemed, died a natural death, a fact which will be preserved in the archives of the Ministry of Marine.—London Globe.

The Augusta police are looking for Hobson Carey, who is wanted in Dredden in connection with the alleged larceny of a $20 gold piece, a $5 gold piece, a gold dollar, two silver dollars and two half dollars. When last seen he wore a pair of light green trousers, a blue coat and a light gray hat.—Portland Press.

CORPORATIONS DO "UNETHICAL" LAW

Indemnity Companies and Title Companies Said to be Among Them. One Advertiser to Draw Will—Committee on Discipline is to Make a Report.

The New York County Lawyers Association at its annual meeting last night at the Hotel Astor protested against corporations practicing law in the face of the recent decision of the Court of Appeals in the case of the Cooperative Law Company. J. N. Emley said he had investigated seventeen cases of indemnity companies whose policies provide that the insured must turn over to the insuring company the conduct of his defense in case of litigation. He said that these cases were only an example of many instances where corporations were not only practicing law but were practicing in a manner which would be sufficient to disbar an individual so practicing.

John Brooks Leavitt in submitting the report of the committee on discipline first broached the subject. He cited title companies as the most flagrant offenders. He said that one of them had even gone so far as to advertise to the public that he was engaged in the business of drawing wills. He said that it was useless to try to establish a code of ethics for the legal profession if corporations were allowed not a moment to practice, but to practice in a manner which would be reprehensible in the individual.

Mr. Emley introduced a resolution that the committee on discipline be instructed to take steps looking to the disciplining the members of the bar practicing law under the orders of a corporation in such a way as to be in fact bound to obey the orders of the corporation. It was decided that the committee should present the results of its investigation to a special meeting at which it will be decided what action the association would take to put a stop to the abuse.

The committee on court houses reported that as soon as the subway question had been decided, which one of the members was in a position to say would be quite soon, the mayor's board of estimate would know how much money they were going to have for the new court house and the matter would be revived. The committee believed that the site chosen would be in or contiguous to City Hall Park.

Judge Joseph F. Daly presided in the absence of President Alton B. Parker, who is in Rochester.

SEE BRIGHT PROSPECT FOR THE OIL INDUSTRY

Boosters Predict Great Betterment in Very Near Future.

Boosters in the oil business in this state are now confidently predicting better things for the business in the near future. The following is a statement of prospects made by a leading company: The basic condition of oil is growing to be recognized as safe and permanent. The record of every concern that has developed its business from oil to fuel oil is so satisfactory and has proven so successful that it is slowly converting every plant within reach of a permanent supply. The declining production in the Middle West is so marked and so rapid that it is placing California, with her unlimited supply, in an imperative position. The southwestern states have been attracted by the apparently large supply in Mexico, but the condition of political unrest there and the probability of a duty being placed upon the crude that is being imported into the United States does not place that supply in a very reliable position. The United States government pays out $10,000,000 a year for fuel, and it is only a question of year or two when the bulk of that will be supplied by California. It seems almost impossible to contemplate that the government should continue to pay a freight charge for transporting coal to the Pacific coast of $4.50 per ton upon 25,000 tons. It looks like a business impossibility that the government should pay $8.50 per ton for oil delivered at San Francisco. The tests upon the Louisiana and other Atlantic vessels were so satisfactory and evidenced such a great saving that fuel oil must supplant coal as soon as the opening of the canal gives these vessels an opportunity to draw their supply. The Baku fields of Russia, also showing a marked decline, will soon force large contractors to look to this state for their supply. All continental Europe, especially those nations most actively engaged in marine commerce, are in close touch with the situation here both through consular reports and special representatives. The indications are now that it is the coming year will place the oil industry in a strong, permanent, profitable position and give everything connected therewith a great profit. The enormous production has called for enormous expenditures in tankage, pipe lines and ocean carrying vessels, but as soon as the conditions are under good control and the facilities adequate then the over production will never again menace the future.

LOCATE NEW TOWN IN MARICOPA FIELD

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 10.—Esperanza is the name of the newest townsite proposition in the Maricopa field. It is to be located on 200 acres in section 4-11-23, and the depot is one-half mile from the K. T. & O. office and two miles east of Maricopa.

SHIPPING MUCH OIL OUT OF SAN PEDRO

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—Crude oil was the feature of the exports from San Pedro for August, according to the custom house report. "There was a total of 161,600 barrels sent out from this port during the month. Asphalt, 1,000 tons, was another important item on the export list."

FIFTH ALARM SENT IN FOR HAY FIRE

Fire yesterday afternoon started again in the Hague hay barns which were destroyed by fire last Monday night. Since the fire of a week ago, the blaze has been smoldering in the hay and yesterday it broke out again. This makes the fifth time that the fire department has been called to the hay barns since the original fire. The fire was extinguished yesterday with very little trouble. The owner is having the hay moved and when the air strikes the smoldering sparks the fire is started anew. Only a slight alarm was turned in yesterday and the entire fire department was not called out.

BRISTOL SPEAKS AT BARSTOW AND LATON

Rev. Irving Bristol spoke yesterday at Barstow in the forenoon and at Laton in the evening, in the interest of the Anti-Saloon League. He concluded his talks largely to the present state local option law and the phases of the fight that is brewing against it, and will be sprung at the next session of the state legislature.

SHIELDS' FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON

Funeral services over Mrs. Elizabeth M. Shields will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence at 345 San Pablo avenue. Rev. Pitner, pastor of the First Methodist church, will officiate at the services. Rev. Pitner will be assisted by Dr. Charles Goke Woods, former pastor of the First Methodist church here, who is now located at Whittier.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders.

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that ninety-eight per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored. Rexall's Oriental is a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction. Rexall's Oriental is eaten like candy, they act quietly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, grip, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effects. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Three sizes, 50c, 25c, and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. The Monroe Drug Co.

AUDIT AGENCY'S BOOKS AND OFFICERS ARE COMMENDED

But Experts Say Scope of Oil Records are Unsatisfactory.

Lakeview and Union Co. Situation Discussed at Length.

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 10.—The auditing of the Independent Oil Producers' books for the period from February 1, 1910, to March 31st, 1911, was completed yesterday by Speed and Fraser, public accountants of this city. The auditors say: "While the basis and scope of the oil records of the Agency have been unsatisfactory and inadequate, they are in excellent order and remarkably complete considering the lack of uniformity in the information at the command of the officers. We take pleasure in commending the work of your officers in this connection and more particularly that of your clerical force, headed by J. W. Evans, auditor." The report has been placed in the hands of the directors who will hold their next meeting in Bakersfield on September 20th. The only recommendations made by the auditing experts is that a set of double entry oil books be opened and kept by the Agency, also including the producing and purchases of the Union Oil company. In speaking of the oil in storage it is said: "In looking to prove the existence of the total amount of oil in storage to the credit of Agency members on March 31, 1911, namely 9,546,382.50 barrels, we have asked the Union Oil company, the Producers' Transportation company and the Associated Oil company to state the amounts held by them at that date for account of the Agency. The total amount that is acknowledged by these companies is 9,504,682.25 barrels while the total Agency storage credit including the certificated oil is 9,840,392.50, less lease storage 338,407.67 or 9,501,984.83 barrels, indicating an average of 116,997.82 barrels."

ON LAKEVIEW OIL

Under the general head of oil accounts the auditing committee has the following to say of the Union Oil company and the Lakeview Oil company:

"After an extensive examination of the methods and results of the accounting for the oil delivered and stored, the following conditions are found to exist: DELIVERIES."

"The oil delivery records are based on preliminary run-tickets issued in the field, from which permanent tickets are issued in the office of the Union Oil company, a copy of each being sent to the Los Angeles office of the Agency. These tickets are registered directly to the credit of the producer from whose property the oil is delivered, having passed through no intermediate chronological and numerical register from which a proof-total might be obtained and the balance of the producers' accounts is effected only by comparison with similar records kept by the Union Oil company. This delivery of run-tickets applies only to regular Agency members other than the Union Oil company. The total of the production and purchases of the Union Oil company, which, with the Agency production, forms the basis for the division and apportionment of sales and storage to all members, is furnished monthly by the accounting department of the Union Oil company in totals, covering which there is no substantiating evidence in the hands of the Agency. Thus the Union Oil company, in its triple capacity of agency member, producer and marketing agent, keeps its own books and furnishes totals which have no corresponding original entry on Agency records."

"Charges for the storage of Agency oil are based on the stocks of the Union Oil company at the first of the preceding month, less consumption, sales and the amount contained in pipe lines, vessels, stations and cars, plus the regular and special deliveries. In addition to the charges are made by members for storage in steel on tanks and by the Associated Oil company for oil in its pipe line and Kern River reservoirs. About 470,000 barrels of oil in Associated reservoirs is subject to storage charge only when removed, and the balance is subject to monthly charge. No agreement has been effected with the Associated Oil company relative to this charge, and there is in consequence an accrued storage charge which remains unsettled."

"These storage accounts are kept in memorandum form and are not verified by inventory. Neither is the storage in the hands of the Union Oil company accounted for except in total, which is informally acknowledged monthly."

"Paragraph six of the agreement between the Agency and the Union Oil company, of June 24, 1909, provides that the Union may have all the oil it desires for fuel at pumping stations along pipe lines and on ships or boats, also for refinery purposes in any and all of its refineries, and shall pay therefor on the basis of the average net price per barrel at the wells received by first and second parties (Agency members) for fuel oil sold during the month for which settlement is made. This has not been followed. The oil reported by the Union Oil company as used for fuel and is still at refineries, for fuel, at branches, on vessels and along pipe lines (including the Producers' Transportation company) has been deducted from the total production and purchases as shown in the monthly statement, and does not enter into sales."

LAKEVIEW STORAGE During the months of September, October and November, 1910, the delivery of the Lakeview Oil company were apportioned to all Agency members other than the Union Oil company and holder of special contracts, on the basis of their then existing storage, and treated as a loan of oil from the Lakeview Oil company, until the borrower has paid, since the months of delivery, the amount of the loan in a greater degree on account of this loan of oil. It has been pointed out that the borrowers have suffered by reason of storage charges on this oil, and that they are paying storage to the Lakeview Oil company, and so have been asked to report on the matter. "In concluding the storage accounts it should be kept in mind that the expense each month in large by the participant in the sales of that month, in that the storage charges are deducted from the receipts from the sale of oil, and

WILL USE ELECTRIC POWER AT MCKITTRICK

Kern River Company to Introduce Innovation; McKittrick Notes.

MCKITTRICK, Sept. 10.—The Kern River Oil Company will shortly introduce an innovation in the McKittrick field in the way of operating three of its four wells by electricity. The operations are expected to arrive in a few days, and one is to be placed at each well. The Kern River Company has a good lease, located between the Associated and the Jovett leases, and has made considerable improvements within the last several months. The test well being drilled jointly by the Scottish and the Hillcrest oil companies, is down 2,200 feet with good indications.

The Revised Oil Company which recently installed electric apparatus for the separation of water and oil sand, is giving it a preliminary test. The Redlands Oil Company has reached a depth of nearly 2,000 feet with a rotary. The work is being done under contract by the California Well Drilling Company of Taft. Material has been received for two rigs to be put up by E. J. Miley and associates, on section 22, three-quarters of a mile east of McKittrick.

The State Consolidated Oil Company has spudded in well No. 11, and has reached No. 7. The drilling of well No. 12 will begin in a short time. C. C. Smith, former manager of the McKittrick branch of the J. P. Lacey Company, is spending his vacation in San Francisco, and will next week take charge of the new branch of the company at Shale. Mr. Smith has been succeeded here by R. R. Morris of Taft. Both gentlemen are well and favorably known to the trade.

During the net price to the Agency members, in this manner each member who participated in the sale returns a share that proportion of storage charges that his storage credit bears to the total oil in storage. It will be seen that the storage on this Lakeview borrowed oil is borne by the sales of oil and the borrowing member bears charges on the Lakeview oil only so far as he participates in the sales by reason of the increased storage credit.

"Therefore, the matter is purely one of price, and whether the borrower has suffered a hardship or reaped a benefit on account of the charges he has paid by reason of his participation in the sales of this borrowed oil, may only be determined after the oil is returned to the Lakeview and a comparison can be made of the average net price of sales in the months during which the Lakeview participates in the sale of this returned oil and the average net price of sales during the months in which the borrower participated in its sale, and the difference in this average net price may be occasioned by the gross price received for the oil, or by any part or all of the charges against the gross price, of which storage is only the factor."

Burning papers in a narrow opening between the Cowan and the Wallace lodging houses on J street late last threatened for a time to cause a blaze, but engine house No. 1 was notified and the fire put out by men from there, without an alarm being turned in. A cigarette is believed to have caused the fire.

MANY INEBRIATED SENT TO ASYLUM

Startling Increase in Number of Commitments to State Hospitals.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 10.—August broke all records for the number of commitments to California insane asylums, a total of 265 persons having been sent to them for commitment and treatment. The highest previous figure for any one month was 185 in March, 1910. The commitments were distributed as follows: Southern California Hospital, 63; Mendocino, 42; Annapolis, 30; Napa, 30; Stockton, 24. During the month the figures for the commitment of inebriates and victims of the liquor and drug habits showed a startling increase, but these are only partially responsible for the big jump in the general commitment figures. During July thirty-four inebriates were committed, while in August there were eighty-three. What to do with all the new patients is becoming a problem. States Dr. Hatch, State Superintendent of Hospitals.

The counties sent inebriates to the hospitals, as follows: Alameda, 10; San Francisco, 25; Los Angeles, 11; Santa Clara, 7; Tulare and San Joaquin, 4 each; Sacramento and Sonoma, 3 each; Santa Barbara, 2; and Stanislaus, Merced, Plumas, Solano, Butte, Monterey, Ventura and San Diego, 1 each.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. George H. Post returned yesterday from a two months' visit in Los Angeles and the southern beaches. Her young nephew, G. E. Post, accompanied her and will remain in Fresno for the winter. L. M. Jack, for many years a resident of this city and now in the newspaper business in San Jose, arrived here last night for a short stay with friends and relatives. He will be here until Saturday. Mrs. Edward Malley, who three weeks ago underwent an operation at St. Winifred's hospital, San Francisco, has almost entirely recovered and will return here this week.
